

In Comes the Sea

Dance, music,
puppetry & storytelling for children in hospital

A delightful, interactive, bedside, performance,
that sees the hospital bed turned into a boat, ready to set sail in search of the magic fish

"We were spellbound, how beautiful and what a tonic, thank you!"

'In Comes the Sea' is a 15-minute magical adventure for children and their families in hospital. Two performers bring the sights, sounds and rhythms of the ocean to life through live music, movement, puppetry and sensory play, creating joyful, playful moments at the bedside.

Children set sail as their hospital bed becomes a boat, drifting out to sea in search of a magical fish. Along the way, they meet curious sea creatures, and make waves to guide the journey. The experience is child-led and responsive, inviting curiosity, imagination and connection.

Created in partnership with University Hospital Coventry alongside children and families on the wards, the work is inclusive and adaptable for all participants. Infection prevention and control measures are embedded throughout, ensuring a safe, engaging and uplifting experience for everyone.
